Dear Sir:

Following the instructions of your letter dated 11/24/2004, I submitted to you on Feb. 08, 2005 an amended application. In which, no new material had been added. In accordance with your instruction 1.(h), detail explanations on the invention were presented together with actual examples of Romanized Chinese words and the corresponding standard written Chinese words. That amendment was deemed in non-compliance according to 37 CFR 1.121. The notice of non-compliant amendment was sent to me on Nov. 1, 2005 by Mr. R. Dorvil.

Following the instructions and examples of 37 CFR 1.121 that I found on the website of US Patent Office, I respectfully re-submit this presently amended application with the proper type of markings to the best of my understanding:

1. Amendments to the specification. For clarity, some words of original application are deleted and replaced by in-depth explanations; in some cases, explicit examples are presented. A new section of "Detailed description of the invention" is added as pages 7 and 8 of the present amendment.
2. Amendment to the claims. There is no deletion or addition to original claims, only that claims 1 and 2 are made more specific for this invention.
2. Amendment to the drawing. In the original application, Figure 2 was misplaced. It is presented in this current amendment as a new sheet.

If there are further shortcomings, please let me know, I will try to do my best to correct..

Chang P. Liu
